Burg Schlitz:

Looks and Lakes

I spy with my little Eye something...

Hohen Demzin 4/2012. Walking and watching is a delight. However, meanwhile many people have become blind to the beautiful things by the wayside. They simply dash off, leaving happiness behind. Learning afresh how to look, exploring with your eyes, taking your time to watch more closely – this is a totally new experience for all those living on the fast track. In Mecklenburg Vorpommern, the land of your desire, it still exists – time to slow down. Your wrist watch and your mobile will not accompany you, when ex forest warden Juergen Luttmann is taking you on a tour. On such strolls through meadows and forests you can learn a lot about this world and about yourself. And there is more to be seen than your eye can behold. For example five lakes which are worth looking at.

With a bit of luck you will catch sight of a crucian carp, a local speciality of the “Tiefen Lake”, a circular lake richly stocked with fish. Who feels like it, may go fishing and try his luck. The lake nearby the “Sculpture-Way” is guarded by stony witnesses. Those with a romantic vein will sit down for a picnic by the “Louisen Lake”, where there is also a landing stage and many snug and secluded spots to linger. Originally, the Castle-Lake’s “Rose Island” harboured a water-castle, an enchanted little place which nowadays awakens memories of times long past. Old postcards are helpful reminders, which are collected in the castle archives. Take a refreshing bath in the “Straten Lake”. The road to this lake is more often used by carriages than by modern vehicles. Beyond the castle’s premises you will find the numerous and inviting lakes of the Mecklenburg Lake District. This, however, is quite a different story to tell. If you want to spend some time with yourself, and (re-)discover the wonders by the wayside, you will find a silent and peaceful paradise in the wide-stretching Landscape-Park of Burg Schlitz, where the delight of walking and watching awakens almost magically by itself.

Several packages are at your choice. But you can also just book the place and cut your own path. Two nights in a Double-Room including breakfast are already available from EUR 236.00 per person onwards. Everything else can be arranged on the spot.

Altogether 20 spacious and stylishly furnished rooms and suites are available. You will find plenty of space to linger, for instance for snug reading-pleasures with a nice cup of tea. The kitchen is distinguished, with a country-flair, elevated, but not with its head in the clouds. You may particularly look forward to venison from our own hunting grounds and fish from the Mueritz. In addition to this you will enjoy delights according to season and all those unforgettable delectabilities which the region can provide.
